"25 years of Family Practice in the Big Bend—what a long strange trip it's been"

Nov 15, 12pm-1pm, TTUHSC, ACB 100

James D. Luecke, MD is a rural physician in family practice. Committed to helping people from rural communities, Dr. Luecke sometimes commutes over 100 miles between Alpine, Fort Davis and Marathon just to make a house call. He does "whatever is needed", from removing a bullet to delivering babies. He received his undergraduate degree in Biology at Stanford in California and his M.D. from Southwestern in Dallas in 1984.
