

CALL FOR PAPERS & PANELS

26TH ANNUAL ALL UNIVERSITY CONFERENCE ON THE ADVANCEMENT OF WOMEN IN HIGHER EDUCATION

2010 Theme: "Regarding Nature: Gender, Identity and Ecologies of Change"

TEXAS TECH UNIVERSITY – FRIDAY, MARCH 5TH, 2010
8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. TTU Student Union Building

We invite paper and panel presentations that explore the manifold meanings of movement and change as connected to, created by, and/or caught up in the presence of women's, gender, and identity issues, in both contemporary and historical frameworks. Interdisciplinary proposals, as well as those from the disciplines and specialty subject areas across the Texas Tech University campus, are welcome. We will be happy to consider proposals from the professional schools and the administrative offices, as well as those from scholarly areas where women have been historically under-represented, including mathematics, the agricultural and natural sciences, and technology and applied sciences. We also invite students, staff and faculty members in the social and behavioral sciences, the visual and performing arts, the communications fields, and the humanities to present their research.

The Program Committee also issues a special invitation to interested parties from other colleges and universities, including Lubbock-area institutions, Angelo State University, and other institutions in the Southwest to present, participate, and/or to attend this conference. Faculty, staff, graduate and undergraduate students are all invited to share their work, in the form of research findings, group or single-author projects, and works-in-progress in multiple media. Undergraduate and Graduate students from an accredited College or University who submit a paper are eligible for a best paper award. These papers must be received in full form on or before February 19, 2010 with an abstract for review.

* We invite submissions for individual papers or panels highlighting feminist research, in progress or completed. Undergraduates, graduate students, staff and faculty from all disciplines are invited to participate and to attend. This year, we especially welcome research on:

- gender and media
- regional feminist issues and concerns on the South Plains
- the environment (e.g., ecofeminism, indigenista, urban planning, architecture)
- political activism (e.g., government, war/peace)
- embodiment (e.g., ability, genetics, inscribing)
- cultural constructions of gender
- psychology of sex roles
- social constructs of gender relations
- science and technology
- feminist visual culture (art and art criticism)

Deadline for submissions Friday, February 19, 2010

Please send submissions to: patricia.a.earl@ttu.edu

Note: include "2010-Women's Studies Conference Submission" in the subject line for easy identification

For individual papers, please submit a 250-word abstract including the proposal title, name, affiliation and contact information for all author(s). (Note: A final version of the paper submission should be included in addition to the abstract to be considered for Undergraduate and Graduate best paper review.) For panels, please submit a 250-word description of the panel topic in addition to the materials required of the individual paper submissions. Please reference the submission guidelines at http://www.depts.ttu.edu/wstudies/call_for_papers_and_panels_2010.php and note that only complete applications adhering to the stated guidelines will be accepted. Please watch the Women's Studies website for updates. This conference is FREE and open to the public. For questions contact us here in the Women's Studies Office located in Holden Hall RM 8 or by phone at (806) 742.4335.

Texas Tech University | Women's Studies Program | Box 42009 | Lubbock, TX 79409-2009 | T 806.742.4335
www.depts.ttu.edu/wstudies