

Leadership Team

The Lubbock Impact/TTUHSC Free Clinic is a student-run free clinic and is led by a five-member leadership team who serve one-year terms. The leadership team consists every year of four second year medical students and one nurse practitioner student. The leadership team makes sure the free clinic runs effectively and efficiently week-to-week. The leadership team does the administrative work at the clinic and directs the flow of patients and students. The leadership team also handles scheduling of student volunteers, training and orienting volunteers, recruiting volunteer physicians, compiling data, keeping inventory, requesting donations, advocating for patients and students, developing and implementing new ideas and services, and representing the free clinic. The head of the leadership team is the Student Liaison who directs and guides the team and serves as the point person for the medical director, the dean's office and the student body. The leadership team is determined each year through a thorough application and interview process conducted by the current team.
