

Dear Dr. Sherry,

My name is Ryan Post, and I am the recipient of the stethoscope you provided. I am a non-traditional student with a different sort of background. As I write this letter I cant seem to express my gratitude in the way I desire without giving you a little background about myself. I come from a family of craftsmen but life circumstances limited my exposure to this. I guess to compensate I dove even deeper into areas where I could use my hands - landing on carpentry as my deepest hobby with all my skills mostly self-taught. I want you to know that I will carry this stethoscope with me and I will use it both learn medicine and help others and all the while you will be a part of that.

*Sincerely,
Ryan Post*
