You still need to complete a Travel Packet Request even if you have a valid, unexpired work visa in your passport, and do not need to obtain one from a US consulate.

BEFORE DEPARTING THE USA

Before you leave the U.S. for travel abroad, please remember to turn this packet in to IES to ensure that you have all of the required documents from TTUHSC that you will need for your trip. In addition, if you still have a white I-94 card in your passport, please turn it in at the airport before you board your flight. If you have the electronic I-94 printout (from the CBP website) you don't need to turn that in at the airport. When you return to the USA, your I-94 will be available electronically on the CBP website. Your travel history will be available also and updated to show your recent trip.

221-G ADMINISTRATIVE PROCESSING AT A US CONSULATE

Before planning a trip abroad, you need to understand that if you plan on applying for a visa stamp at a U.S. embassy or consulate, there is the possibility that you will get delayed due to additional administrative processing. This is commonly referred to as a "221g check". Any international person may be subject to the 221g check before a visa is issued. If you are told that a 221g review is needed, you may be delayed from returning to the USA for two to six weeks. International persons with degrees in a STEM area (science, technology, engineering or mathematics fields) are often subjected to 221g checks especially if they have not visited a US consulate in a number of years.

The 221g delay will likely mean that you may not return to TTUHSC as scheduled to resume your job duties. IES' services are limited when it comes to these background security checks, given the number of federal agencies involved in the process. While we are unable to expedite the process, we will work with the Department of State to ensure that the checks are processed within the time frame given to you by the consulate.

If you find yourself stuck in an administrative or related check, please send IES an e-mail so we can monitor the situation for you. Please send a clear copy of the 221(g) Letter that the consulate will give you. If you can take a clear photo of the letter, feel free to use your smartphone and email it to IES.

UPON RETURNING TO THE USA

Please ensure that your passport is valid for at least six months beyond the date of the visa approval end date. Only persons who hold a passport from a country on CBP's Six Month Club list are exempt from this six month requirement. In addition, CBP will issue an I-94 that is valid only through the I-797A approval notice expiration date or your passport expiration date, whichever one is earlier. Where possible, ensure that your passport expires after the expiration of your visa approval end date.

Please make sure that the US Customs & Border Protection (CBP) officer reviews the correct visa, especially if you have more than one valid US visa in your passport. Also, you may request that the CBP officer provide you with an I-94 expiration date that is 10 days beyond the date of your I-797A approval notice. Do not be afraid to request this of the officer; by law you are entitled to this 10-day extension of your I-94. You are not permitted to work during this 10-day period, however.

You also need to return the original I-797 approval notice to IES. If you are in Lubbock, please bring it to our office. If you are in Abilene, Amarillo, Odessa, Midland or Dallas, please give the form to your department administrator or HR. They will ensure it is returned to IES in a secured fashion. You also need to send us a copy of your new visa stamp. Feel free to take a clear photo with your smartphone and email it to IES. IES will obtain your I-94 directly from the CBP I-94 website.
