Wisdom Gone Wild

Thursday, February 15

12 - 1 PM on Zoom

Follow a sixteen year caregiving journey into dementia for Rose Noda, a Japanese-American woman and her filmmaker-daughter Rea. After entering Rose's world, Rea finds an unexpected deeper connection to a mother who had previously been distant throughout her childhood. Accepting her mother's cognitive changes, Rea discovers a poetic language to communicate with Rose. They develop a vibrant relationship based on play, connection and humor. Rose's dementia is revealed as a form of wisdom that has gone wild.
