

Global Perspectives Film Series

featuring

Unnatural Causes: In Sickness & In Wealth

Thursday, May 11
Noon, ACB 240

Unnatural Causes: Is Inequality Making Us Sick? is a series of short documentary films that sheds light on mounting evidence of how inequities in the rest of our lives—the jobs we do, the wealth we enjoy, the neighborhoods we live in—can disrupt our biology as surely as germs and viruses.

In episode 1, “In Sickness and In Wealth”, Unnatural Causes explores the connections between healthy bodies, healthy bank accounts, and skin color by traveling to Louisville, Kentucky to examine the lives of four individuals from different walks of life. The lives of a CEO, lab supervisor, janitor, and unemployed mother illustrate how social class shapes access to power, resources, and opportunity, resulting in a health-wealth gradient. The film seeks to demonstrate how one’s position in society – shaped by social policies and public priorities – affects health.

Free snacks will be provided!

This event is free and open to the public. No RSVP is necessary.

For more information about our film series, please visit the Office of Global Health website at www.ttuhsu.edu/globalhealth/movieseries.aspx.