

IPE NEWS & EVENTS

from the Office of Interprofessional Education

HELLO & WELCOME!

A new year is just around the corner and with it comes not only a new decade but continued growth and opportunities within our institution and in the Office of Interprofessional Education. In an effort to increase awareness of interprofessional education (IPE) news and activities across all of our campuses, we are pleased to launch our inaugural IPE News & Events Newsletter.

We have signed you up with the hope that you will find value in the content and use it as a source for up-to-date information that will aid in implementing IPE in your school, program, or curriculum. We want this newsletter to be a valuable resource for all readers, so please feel free to share your feedback and suggestions. To unsubscribe, simply click unsubscribe at the bottom of any email.

Want to share your IPE successes? Let us know what your campus, school, and/or program is doing and we will include it in our monthly newsletter.

IPE FALL SYMPOSIUM RECAP

The IPE Fall Symposium serves as the annual interprofessional education (IPE) day for TTUHSC. Over 1,800 faculty, students, staff, and guests participated in the morning keynote session with 1,664 faculty and students participating in the afternoon.

The 2019 Fall Symposium, Building Resiliency for Interprofessional Practice: A Healthier, Happier You, included a morning and afternoon session. The morning session featured two national keynote speakers who discussed the importance of wellness and resiliency, promoting strategies and tools to prevent and reduce the impact of secondary trauma in individuals and teams. The afternoon session included a moderated IPE case-based learning activity for interprofessional teams along with team-building activities.

For 2019, the Fall Symposium partnered with the Well Beyond Quality Enhancement Plan (QEP) to highlight the 8 Dimensions of Wellness Model and TTUHSC's new wellness initiatives. Overall, students were very satisfied with the day's events and learning activity.

The Fall Symposium committee will begin meeting in late Spring to begin planning for the 2020 event that will be held on November 6th. For more information or to join the committee, email us at ipe@ttuhsc.edu.

"Teamwork and communication are key to patient care and I loved learning how everyone is an integral part of the team."

SPRING IPE DAY 2020: FIRE IN THE HEATLAND

Student registration is open for Spring IPE Day! On February 14th, the Office of Interprofessional Education will host Spring IPE Day to foster improvement in interprofessional communication and teamwork skills within a public health emergency framework with an emphasis on community resources, policy, action planning, and population health. The theme of this year's event is Fire in the Heartland and will feature public health outcomes and interprofessional action response planning associated with wildfires in the central plains, including West Texas. Spring IPE Day will be held simultaneously on the Abilene, Amarillo, Dallas, Lubbock, and Odessa campuses. Please encourage your students to register by January 24, 2020 at <https://ttuhsc-ipe-2020-spring-ipe-day.eventbrite.com>.

Faculty facilitators are also needed on all campuses. Responsibilities of faculty facilitators include guiding a team of interprofessional students through team building activity and small group discussion.

For more information on Spring IPE Day please visit our webpage at www.ttuhsc.edu/interprofessional-education.

If you are interested in facilitating, please contact Danette Weller in the Office of Interprofessional Education at (806) 743-4307 or by email at danette.weller@ttuhsc.edu.
