Subject Headings

 Subject Headings act as a thesaurus for the database—it's how the articles are indexed.

 Helps clear up any issue with synonyms, making sure you find articles related to a concept, not just a term.

• Search the database using terms it is programmed to understand.

Keywords

- Keyword search will look for your word everywhere
- Only the entered term is searched; synonyms are excluded

Subheadings

- Subheadings act as a facet of subject headings
- Narrow a broad subject heading to get more specific results

Boolean Operators

- NOT excludes a term from the search
- AND searches both terms together
- OR searches both terms separately

AND vs. OR

General Searching Tips

- Start with a broad search, then narrow it as needed
  - This ensures that you don't miss potentially relevant results

- Search each term separately, then combine them later
  - This allows you to alter your strategy if your initial search doesn't work

More General Tips

- Don't be afraid to hunt for the subject heading you need
  - Try looking for it under a different name/synonym

- Have fun!
  - The more you search, the easier it will be!
