The first TTUHSC School of Medicine Sophomore Transition Convocation was held on May 23, 1986 as a celebration marking the successful completion of two years of basic science studies. The ceremony provided an opportunity for students and faculty to meet together one last time before the Class of '88 was divided and moved on to their respective campuses.

The speaker for the evening was J. Thomas Hutton, M.D., Ph.D. who addressed the future of medicine and what we have to look forward to as physicians. He also attempted to calm some of our fears as we enter a new, exciting phase of our medical training. Awards were then presented to outstanding students and faculty for the past two years. And finally, the "new MS III's" were accepted to their regional academic centers by representative faculty.

The convocation marked the end of a long two years of frustration and hard work with what often seemed like minimal reward. However, we have succeeded thus far and will continue to do so with dedication and perseverance. Above all the struggle, though, let us not forget the friendships that have been developed and strengthened through the difficult times. For, even though we will soon forget the less than desirable test grades and the often insurmountable pile of notes we did not think possible to learn, the memories of good friends and good times will stand the test of time.

So, until we gather again as "real doctors" in 1988, good luck and ... On to the clinics!

Go, fight, win and then smash it down their throats.

My freshman year. What a frightening experience. The only time I can remember nearly soiling my pants, other than my fourth birthday party, was the day "THE LETTER" came in the mail. Little did I know what I was about to get myself into in my up and coming educational experience.

It amazes me to think back at how many stupid questions I could think of to ask anyone even remotely associated with medical school. It also amazes me how many conflicting answers I got. I have since realized that medical school is sort of like giving birth, or paper cuts; just something you have to experience to understand. How could anyone prepare me to increase my vocabulary 3,000 fold and include in it words like "holy homunculus" or "schleibdidagle beezzer?" No one could have said anything to spoil my anticipation of gross anatomy lab, although Dr. Dalley did come close when he told us about the levator labii superioris alequi nasi muscle in his introductory lecture.

When school began, my need to ask so many questions faded, and in its stead came blissful and ever-so-easily made adjustments to med school life. I quickly discovered that they had given us a new breed of instructors, whom upon learning that I was ill, asked me if I had been visited by one of the Rhea sisters. (You know- Dia, Gona, Seba, Steat, and Mena. And these guys are doctors?) What's more, even the students were different: Rambo with a pipe, a guy from GQ Magazine, a poor soul with five kids, a professional beach bum, and one guy with nothing but gray hair! What happened to the all American medical student? My image of school was shot, and I had no where to turn except to myself. So, with the rest of the class, I ran for class office. (I really wouldn't have felt so bad about losing if the secretary hadn't laughed so hard when I asked her how many votes I got.) Finally, with the formalities tucked away, the academics began, and my four years of undergraduate endeavors had paid off. I was then privileged to begin four years of sadistic slavery.

The first test I ever failed in medical school was the personality profile at the beginning of the year, but I didn't have a chance to study for that one. Studies, what a pain. I wish I had a dollar for every time I got up from my books only to find that half of my blood had pooled to my legs and my buns had fallen asleep. That part of school, tests and studies and such, never did make it real big on my "fun things to do" list. They say we had a Christmas break, but I'm still skeptical.

I guess it was the latter part of the second semester when I realized how fortunate I really was, despite the hemorrhoids. I've made more real friends in the previous few months than I had ever imagined possible. These people genuinely care for me as a person, and are there to share the good times and the bad. It's amazing, suddenly there are no more sociologic misfits, just worthy people. People that I respect and love.

I will hang on to the moments of insanity forever and smile in recollection. When I think of my freshman year, I'll first remember the folks, those who made that year one of the most special years of my life.

Oh, shore George, that's what an inguinal hernia looks like.

CHRISTIAN MEDICAL SOCIETY

Within an interdenominational framework and without strong religious organizational affiliations, the Christian Medical Society seeks to provide support and encouragement to persons in all areas of the medical profession. Our membership includes students, residents and practicing physicians all dedicated to serving God in their practice of medicine. A spin-off of the organization geared toward meeting the needs of spouses was started this year in an effort to provide extra support to the families of our members.

The 1985-86 school year was a very exciting and growing year for the CMS. Our meetings were moved from the Health Sciences Center Building to physicians' homes providing students with the opportunity to become acquainted with practicing M.D.'s. With this move our group grew to as many as 45 members. We also had various speakers throughout the year addressing such topics as abortion and medical missions, as well as leading in bible studies and personal testimonies.

We were also able to send five first year medical students to the annual Student Leadership Conference in Dallas where they met with students from other Texas medical schools. By building on the success of the past year and with new ideas of leadership for next year, the CMS promises to offer exciting opportunities for students looking for growth and support in medical and spiritual lives.

Christian Medical Society 1985-86 Officers:

*President: Jim Higgins

FAMILY PRACTICE STUDENT ASSOCIATION

The Family Practice Student Association strives to expose students to the specialty of family medicine and to increase their awareness of the activities of the family physician.

In addition to monthly meetings, the FPSA sponsored a CPR course for medical students, established family practice "mini-libraries" in Amarillo, El Paso, and Lubbock, and sponsored a party during orientation week.

Many students took advantage of the preclinical preceptorship program, spending a month with private family physicians around Texas.

The annual Family Practice Residency Day was one of the most popular yet with 17 residencies from across the state coming to recruit students.

The FPSA sent four representatives to the National Conference of Student Members in Kansas City where they gathered information to share with the rest of the organization. Two members attended the Texas Academy of Family Physicians Interim Session where Tech was elected to represent all the Texas medical schools at the next National Conference.

PEDIATRIC CLUB

Pediatric Club was organized last year to provide an opportunity for students to become more familiar with the specialty of pediatrics and opportunities in the field.

Guest speakers present current pediatric issues and topics at semimonthly luncheons hosted for the students by the Department of Pediatrics. Students can gain first-hand professional experience by interacting with physicians in various areas and work situations, such as work rounds and on-call duties. Students have the opportunity to serve as counselors for a summer diabetic camp. Pediatric Club provides information and recommendations for preceptorships in pediatrics, and also helps prepare students for pediatric residencies.

This year the Pediatric Club completed a special Valentine's Day project for the children on Lubbock General Hospital's pediatric ward. Club members entertained these children with Valentines and gifts of red Texas Tech Basketballs

PSYCHIATRY CLUB

The goals of the Psychiatry Club, the youngest pre-professional organization at TTUHSC School of Medicine, are as follows:

- 1. To provide a forum for the discussion of issues pertaining to the humanistic/psychological aspects of medicine and medical education.*
- 2. To provide an extracurricular venue for the introduction of medical students to the specialty of psychiatry.*
- 3. To organize lectures, programs, and seminars on topics of interest in the area of clinical psychiatry.*
- 4. To organize lectures, programs, and presentations centering on issues which are relevant to the social, emotional,* and psychological well-being of physicians and the persons with whom they interact.

The Psychiatry Club met biweekly under the moderation of Drs. McMahon and McGovern, and with the assistance of Drs. Pollard and Arrendondo, co-sponsored the year's Impaired Physician Seminar. Held at St. Mary of the Plains Hospital, the seminar welcomed Dr. David Smith as its guest speaker and focused on substance abuse in the medical community. The Psychiatry Club looks forward to continued sponsorship of programs such as this and continued growth as a part of Tech's educational tradition.

TEXAS MEDICAL STUDENTS AUXILIARY

TMSA stands for Texas Medical Students Auxiliary. We are an informal social organization for the spouses of Texas Tech medical students. Our purpose is to acquaint TMSA members with the profession of medicine — its aims, purposes and ideas; to promote intellectual growth; to stimulate participation in civic and medical fields; and to encourage fellowship among the members.

Various activities were conducted during the 1985-1986 Academic year. In May, members held a bake sale with proceeds being donated to the Ronald McDonald project. A garage sale was held in October and the money raised was donated to the Make-A-Wish Foundation and the TTUHSC Student Emergency Loan Fund. A cookbook was compiled by the group with the proceeds going to the Children's Home of Lubbock. A student bulletin board donated by the Texas Medical Students Auxiliary is to be used in the fifth floor for the posting of medical students activities beginning in the fall of next year.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The 1985-1986 Academic Year was the second year of the Student Government at the Texas Tech Medical School. This year marked the first monthly publication of the Student Government Newsletter, "Murmurs", in an effort to improve communication between students, faculty, and administration. It was sent to all students, faculty, administration, incoming freshman, parents of MS I's, and to former students of Texas Tech.

Initial steps were taken to establish an Alumni Association. The first mailing resulted in a 30% response. A subsequent mailing included an invitation of Alumni to a reception at the TMA convention in Dallas in May.

Steps were also taken to form a Parent's Association. A letter was sent to all MS I parents, requesting their support, along with a copy of the student newsletter. The association will formally be established next year.

The speaker series was continued with a presentation by Dr. David Smith, entitled "The Impaired Physician." The series will be expanded next year to include one speaker during each of the two semesters. Also, Dean Hartman addressed the students on the state of the school and responded to questions medical students had concerning TTUHSC.

This year the Student Government became responsible for assessing the annual budgetary request of student organizations and for dispersing funds to the individual organizations.

Student participation in Student Government increased this year, which allowed the undertaking of the above mentioned projects as well as many other goals not listed. Other projects the Student Government is concerned with, and will continue to pursue, include expansion of community service, a no-smoking policy, and an official TTUHSC bookstore.

The Student Government would like to express their sincere appreciation to Dr. Chappell, Dean Hartman, Dr. Spires, Marilyn Tackett, James Johnston, and Nancy Tarwater for their support.

SURGERY CLUB

Since its inception in 1984, the surgery club has continued to thrive through cooperation and continual funding by the TTUHSC Department of Surgery. The goal of the organization is to expose students to the various aspects involved in a career in surgery. A major function of the club is to provide an informative and realistic view of the process of specializing in surgery. Luncheons with guest speakers from a variety of surgical specialties were the highlights of the year. Speakers included: Dr. Ted Hartman, Dr. Gerald Laros, Dr. Jane Goldthorn, Dr. Mario Feola, Dr. James Colt, as well as many surgery residents. A suturing lesson and an anatomical approach to specific surgeries gave students a "hands on" experience. Dr. George Raushbaum, Dr. James Colt and the surgery residents were helpful in making this possible.

Learning proper scrubbing techniques, observing various operations, and following a resident for a day were other opportunities found in the surgery club.

NURSING AMBASSADOR CLUB

The Ambassador Club of the School of Nursing was founded in December 1985 with 18 charter members. Its purposes include supporting the philosophy of the Health Sciences Center; service, public relations, and recruitment for the School of Nursing; promotion of professionalism and leadership; and community service.

MOTT/TAMAMS

The Minority Organization at Texas Tech (MOTT) is a local chapter of the state level Texas Association of Mexican-American Medical Students (TAMAMS). The principle goals of TAMAMS are to address the health care needs of the medically underserved peoples in the state of Texas with particular emphasis on the Mexican-American population, and to effectively increase the number of minority students in allopathic and osteopathic medical schools. As a subunit of TAMAMS, MOTT was established as an effort to cope with minority health care issues on a more local level.

TEXAS MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

TTUHSC lead the state medical schools with 100% TMA membership for 1985-1986. The TMA promotes interest and awareness of organized medicine as it interacts with legislation, community service, and health care delivery. TMA 1985-1986 programs included: 1st Annual TMA/TTUHSC 5K/10K Fun Run; Legislative Symposium; seminars on professional liability financial planning, and prepaid health care; golf shirt sale; and community service. Students served as delegates and committee representatives at state wide TMA meetings. TMA members also participated in Lubbock-Crosby-Garza County Medical Society Meetings.

TTUHSC NURSING STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION

The purpose of the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center Nursing Students' Association is to serve in the development of the individual student nurse to meet the challenge and responsibilities, as a future health care professional, in providing care for all people. TTUHSCNSA is an individual chapter in the Texas Nursing Students' Association. TTUHSCNSA is a professional, political organization. It functions in a wide variety of arenas. TTUHSCNSA is regularly involved in health promotional activities. Some of the activities include blood pressure screenings, co-organizing the Senior Citizen Day at the South Plains

Fair, and teaching in the community. Annually, TTUHSCNSA is involved in orientation activities for incoming students in the School of Nursing. In addition to these activities, TTUHSCNSA sends delegates to the state and national association conventions for nursing students. These delegates participate in formulating and enacting legislation within the student and licenses nurses associations. TTUHSCNSA is a multi-faceted; multifunctional organization whose main goal is to promote unity and professionalism within nursing as a whole.

LETTER FROM THE EDITOR:

I can't say that working on this yearbook was at all times exciting and/or great fun, yet I'm glad I gave my time in order to accomplish a project which I hope others will enjoy. Being editor of the Plexus has given me an opportunity to befriend some really great people I might otherwise never have come to know. To all the people who made my job a little easier along the way, a heartfelt thanks.
