From the NIH

Dear NIH Family:
I received word today that President Trump has made it fully official: he wants me to continue in the role of NIH Director. I am truly grateful for the President's vote of confidence, and I will be honored to continue to serve this noble institution. This is a time of unprecedented scientific opportunity in biomedical research, as we seek together to advance health and relieve suffering. It will be my distinct pleasure to continue working with you, my valued colleagues at NIH -- as well as with our counterparts at the Department of Health and Human Services, the White House, the Congress, and the broader community, including universities, philanthropy, industry, and patient groups. There is much work to do!
Finally, I want to thank all of you who dedicate yourselves so passionately to the goals of NIH. I will continue to rely on your brilliance and dedication as we move forward.
With thanks and best regards to all,
Francis S. Collins, M.D., Ph.D.
Director, National Institutes of Health

Getting to Know Federal Funders and their Research Interests

Posted on June 6, 2017 by Mike Lauer

Working with NIH applicants and awardees as an extramural program division director, I often shared the NIH RePORTER resource as a tool for exploring the research topics NIH supports. Learning what projects we support, using a robust database of historical and newly-funded projects (updated weekly), provides researchers valuable insight as they consider developing their own research programs and applications for funding. Another valuable tool which you might be familiar with is Federal RePORTER, which expands the RePORTER concept to support searching over 800,000 projects across 17 Federal research agencies, with trans-agency data updated annually. As Federal RePORTER recently received an update to introduce some new functions and additional agency data we'd like to highlight some of the ways it helps both the public and scientific researchers alike .... Important notice from SoCRA

The National Institutes of Health (NIH) has released two important related items. The first is the Final NIH-FDA Clinical Trial Template for Phase 2 and 3 IND/IDE Studies. The template aims to assist NIH-funded investigators in preparing clinical trial documents efficiently so that both IRBs and the FDA can perform speedy reviews.

NIH has also released a web-based platform where investigators can utilize the protocol template in an interactive fashion. The Electronic Protocol Writing Tool allows for a collaborative approach to writing and reviewing protocols. Investigators will be able to use the tool to form a "protocol writing team" and assign different individuals with writing and reviewing roles.

Survey from First 5 Permian Basin - UTPB

Title V Maternal and Child Health at the Texas Department of State Health Services (DSHS) is currently conducting a survey of families that have a child with special health care needs. This assessment will help guide the agency's activities to improve the health of Texas families.

DSHS is seeking input from ANY Texas family who has a child or young adult with special health care needs. Survey participation is voluntary and anonymous, and the survey should take only 15 minutes to complete.

The survey is available in English and Spanish:

English: <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/CYSHCN2017>
Spanish: <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/CYSHCN2017sp>

Please share with everyone in your network. The goal is to reach as many Texas families as possible so the agency has a realistic picture of the needs and strengths of families with children with special health care needs around the state.

The survey will be open until August 31, 2017. If you have questions or need assistance with this survey, please contact PHSContractors@dshs.texas.gov.

Special Issue

Submit your research to an upcoming special issue

The Gerontological Society of America's The Journal of Gerontology: Psychological Sciences is currently accepting submissions for two upcoming special issues. Consider submitting your research on the topics below:

Find out more

Calls For Papers

New Developments in Psychological Wisdom Research

For this special issue, we are seeking high-quality empirical research and systematic reviews that will broaden and deepen our understanding of wisdom as a construct, its predictors, manifestations, outcomes, and limitations. All manuscripts selected for inclusion will be strongly theory based and include wisdom as a central variable. A broad range of methodological approaches will be accepted, provided that a convincing theoretical rationale is given.

Submit your research by June 30, 2017

Cognitive Neuroscience of Aging

Ever since the first published functional neuroimaging study of cognitive aging (Grady et al., 1994), the field has grown exponentially. Our theoretical understanding of age-related changes in functional activation—declines, increases, and preservation of both activation and connectivity—continues to evolve. For this special issue, we invite empirical papers describing cutting-edge advances in field and review articles that synthesize knowledge to shed new light on cognitive aging.
