Interventional Radiology Interest Group Advisor: Dr. Bharat Kakarala President:	The purpose of the Intervention Radiology Interest Group aims to provide learning, networking, and research opportunities for medical students interested in a career in radiology or surgery, or for those who would like to learn about direct opportunities in the vascular and interventional radiology field. Interventional radiology revolutionizes medicine through the use of image-guided, minimally invasive therapeutics. Innovations such as angioplasty and the catheter-delivered stent, allowed for minimally invasive treatment of peripheral arterial disease over thirty years ago. Since then interventional radiologists have continued to discover new and effective means to target a variety of disease states, including thermal ablation for cancer treatment and carotid artery angioplasty and stenting to prevent stroke. VIR is a unique surgical field with a large emphasis on patient management and continuity of care. We will facilitate conversations amongst students but also with practicing interventional radiologists to discuss mentorship, and shadowing and research opportunities. We hope to create avenues through which interested students can connect with West Texas radiology specialists. The interest group will also serve to advise students interested in interventional radiology in the clerkship and residency process
