Hispanic Heritage Month

The Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center (TTUHSC) this year will observe National Hispanic Heritage Month from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15 with events, webinars and celebrations.

For more details and to view the complete list of Hispanic Heritage Month events, visit <https://www.ttuhsu.edu/diversity/celebrations-of-diversity.aspx> or contact the Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion at diversity@ttuhsc.edu.

QEP Programming - September 21st

Please join the TTUHSC Quality Enhancement Plan for a presentation on Wednesday, September 21, 2022, at 12:00 pm as we recognize Suicide Prevention Awareness month. Presenter, Dr. Kelly Williams, Professor of Psychological Health with the Texas Tech University School of Veterinary Medicine will speak to, "Keeping Yourself and Others Safe from Suicide Risk." Session learning objectives include:

- Describe basic information about the prevalence of death by suicide, including differences between gender, age, and race.
- Summarize risk factors for suicide.
- Describe strategies for managing intense emotions and situations that may trigger suicide risk, as well as for those essential to suicide prevention in patient care.

Though this programming opportunity was developed for students, faculty and staff are more than welcome to participate. Please join us via Zoom Webinar: Meeting ID 999 4935 8084. A recording of the presentation will be posted on the Live Well website after the event.

Please contact Leslie Collins, QEP Co-Director, with any questions at 806.743.9861 or leslie.collins@ttuhsc.edu

International Education Fee Award: Fall 2022

The international education fee is a $4 institutional fee collected each semester. Monies in the fund are used to assist students who participate in international student exchange or study programs that are part of their degree program (i.e., an elective or other course for which clinical hours or credit will be received). Students interested in applying for funding for programs occurring during Fall 2022 (August - December) should read the following information carefully. Please note, students may only apply for an award once per academic year.

Complete the application, which can be accessed at the link below, and attach supporting documentation as instructed. Return the application and supporting documentation to the Office of Global Health by 4 pm, September 15th. Application and documentation must be emailed to globalhealth@ttuhsc.edu.

Now Accepting Applications

As part of the SCAMeL funding award, The Methodology Lab within the Libraries of the Health Sciences has allocated funds to sponsor student research surrounding 3D printing within the healthcare practices and education. Applications are now being accepted for student research. The deadline for applications is October 1, 2022. Research awards will be announced October 15, 2022. <https://ttuhsc.libguides.com/3dprinting/studentresearch>

Accessibility and the ADA

Have you ever used captions or subtitles while watching your favorite Netflix show? Do you use Siri to assist you on your smartphone? Believe it or not, these things were initially designed for accessibility, but everyone uses them to their advantage. You don't have to have a hearing impairment to benefit from captions or subtitles. You don't have to have a visual impairment for Siri to help you navigate your smartphone. These valuable additions to our world today, along with numerous others, align with the power of universal design for learning and its importance in the classroom for the diverse learners of today. If everyone could access their educational course content in multiple ways (audio, video, captions/transcripts, etc.), then learners would focus their attention on the content rather than how to make the information work for their individual study process. In a study conducted at the University of South Florida – St. Petersburg, 99% of students reported captions were helpful.

To our benefit, TTUHSC has recently announced implementation of automatic machine captioning of all Techlink lecture recordings that are automatically uploaded to our streaming host service. More details are on the Announcements. Zoom recordings are not included, but captions/transcripts are available in Zoom meetings or you can ask for them to be turned on. Visit the SolveIT website for further instructions.

If you are a student who needs additional access to course content, or ADA accommodations of any kind, please reach out to Student Disability Services at 806-743-1926 or tamara.mancini@ttuhsc.edu. If you are faculty or staff and need further assistance, please also contact Student Disability Services.

QEP Event Registration Open

What makes a healthcare provider an effective leader? Emotional intelligence (EI) is critical for one's personal and professional life. You're invited to participate in an interactive learning event designed to increase your understanding and application of EI.

QEP will be hosting two events for students to learn more about emotional intelligence. Register online at <https://bit.ly/3RgHlsc>.

OPV Webinar

Join the Office of People & Values for their webinar series which covers a variety of topics. Biases - we all have them. In this webinar, we will discuss biases and play a game to help us identify where biases exist as we respond to different scenarios and discuss how to counteract them. Our time together will be primarily interactive.

- Thursday, September 15th | 10 - 11 am | Zoom: <https://ttuhsc.zoom.us/j/91751756848>

Global Perspectives Film Series

The Office of Global Health invites you to attend a film series on issues related to global health and developing global mindedness. This month's film has been selected in commemoration of Hispanic Heritage Month. No Más Bebés tells the story of a little-known but landmark civil rights case, Madrigal v. Quilligan. In 1975 a small group of immigrant women sued county doctors, the state, and the U.S. government after they were sterilized while giving birth at Los Angeles County-USC Medical Center during the late 1960s and early 1970s.

- Thursday, September 15th | 12 - 1 pm | ACB 230 or Zoom: <https://ttuhsc.zoom.us/j/4559012756?pwd=QlRkcZBaUTRYSGFiOEhvZnVlcDM2QT09>

El Grito Celebration

Join us for a collaboration with Texas Tech University to celebrate Hispanic Heritage Month which kicks off on September 15th. Celebrate and honor the start of Hispanic Heritage Month with performances, food, flag presentation from 19 Latin American countries and dancing.
